Are You Getting the Most Out of Your NWEA Reports? NCES offers NWEA Training in the North Country

More and more schools in the North Country are using the NWEA assessment as a means for improved student performance. Presently, district personnel have to travel to receive training or incur high fees to bring NWEA trainers to your school district.

NCES now has an experienced NWEA data specialist on staff who can work with your teachers at your site or at the NCES facility using your current NWEA reports. Teachers and administrators will learn to understand their reports and identify areas of strength and areas that need improvement. Principals and superintendents can look at building-wide or district-wide results and identify trends; teachers can pinpoint specific curriculum goals for each of their classes.

NWEA has a rich online resource for teachers to help them modify and enrich classroom practice and target learning objectives to help their students excel. We can show your staff how to access and best use these resources. NCES can also provide new NWEA administrators with help in creating their upload file and cross reference other student data to NWEA results.

For more information on how to get your district to take advantage of all the powerful NWEA resources and reports, please contact our office by phone or by e-mailing:
